The President herewith submits the Seventy-third Annual Report of the Board of Directors.

During the year, regular monthly meetings have been held for the transaction of business. The various committees have also, in their monthly meetings, kept close supervision of their several departments, and the work of the institution has progressed as on previous lines.

A detailed account of the work will be found in the reports of the Chief Physician, Treasurer, Steward and Principal Teacher.

Report of the Chief Physician

1924—1925

To the President and Board of Directors of the Pennsylvania Training School for Feeble-Minded Children.

GENTLEMEN:—At the close of the fiscal year, September 30, 1925, I have the honor to present the Seventy-third Annual Report of the Pennsylvania Training School for Feeble-Minded Children.

A great loss was sustained by all of us in the death, on January 29, 1925, of Mr. Wm. H. Miller, who was the oldest member of the Board of Directors; having been a member since 1869, and its President since 1910. His knowledge of every department of the school was fundamental and most complete, and with his well balanced judgment and never failing interest, he was a tower of strength and support to the executives in all times of perplexity.

It is to be expected that in an organization of such excellence and long standing, that no radical changes from year to year are wise or necessary. The principal change of note during the past year, has been the appointment of a matron, who is also an experienced and well trained nurse, to take charge of the Domus. This is merely an extension of the existing organization, and it has proved, after a year's experience, to be advantageous. The Domus has also been much improved by the purchase of additional modern equipment, and by the thorough renovation of the building. In the general care and training of the children, and in the administration of the other buildings, no changes have been made. The excellent and well trained staff, with but few changes in personnel, has functioned efficiently as in the past, so that the work has gone forward smoothly and satisfactorily.

The admissions and discharges during the past year have been as follows:

	BOYS	GIRLS	TOTAL
Population September 30, 1924	504	416	920
Admitted in the year (one readmission)	20	18	38
Total cared for during the year	524	434	958

Of the three children admitted after the age of sixteen, two were found, on trial to be unimprovable.

	BOYS	GIRLS	TOTAL
Of the removals, both by death and discharge, there were shown	18	4	22
Marked Improvement	5	4	9
Moderate Improvement	1	2	3
No Improvement	24	10	34

The reasons for non-improvement in the latter were respectively, mental disease, epilepsy and idiocy.

Of the children leaving the Training School there were removed:

	BOYS	GIRLS	TOTAL
To aid in the home	0	1	1
To live at home	4	1	5
To secure positions	5	1	6
To a Hospital for the Insane	0	1	1
To the Army and Navy	2	0	2
To another Institution (D. C.)	3	0	3
	14	4	18

As shown above, three boys, wards of the Board of Children's Guardians of the District of Columbia, were removed to the new District Training School.

The death record, showing a total of sixteen children, of whom ten were boys and six girls, being at the approximate rate of only seventeen per thousand population, is low, considering the poor physical inheritance of a large number of our children, and is an indication of the favorable conditions under which they live, and of the unremitting care which is given to their health.

The causes of death were as follows:—Epilepsy, one girl and four boys; lobar pneumonia, one girl and two boys; cerebral hemorrhage, two boys; peritonial tuberculosis, pulmonary tuberculosis, and chronic myocarditis, each one girl; an accident, and chronic endocarditis, each one boy.

Constant supervision and careful attention have been given to clothing, bathing, ventilation, diet, rest and exercise, and as usual, the health of the children has been remarkably good. Except for an epidemic, in a mild form, of influenza in March, the health record has not been marred by a single case of contagious disease, in spite of the fact that cases of scarlet-fever, mumps and measles occurred in the family of employees domiciled on the grounds. By prompt suspension of all gatherings of the children, the influenza epidemic was confined to the Main Building and Nursery, the other buildings not being affected. During the epidemic of small-pox in Philadelphia and environs, we re-vaccinated all children and employees who were not sufficiently protected by previous vaccination; and in addition, leaves of absence were curtailed, and visiting suspended. During the epidemic of so called "dengue" in Chester, the children were not allowed to visit that city. We continued our policy of quarantining for two weeks at the Domus, all arrivals and vacation returns, thereby protecting our children, not only against contagious diseases, but against skin diseases and pediculosis.

Our physicians hold a dispensary clinic twice daily, in which every effort is made to treat all minor illnesses and injuries in their incipiency, thereby preventing the development of more serious conditions. All cases of a communicable nature, even if trivial, are sent at once to our excellent fifty bed Hospital, thus protecting the children in the dormitories from infection.

The consulting members of the Medical Board have promptly and willingly responded to all calls, rendering valuable services in cases requiring their care, and our Dentist has given needed care to the teeth of the children.

Of the 119 applications for admission received during the year, 54 were declined as unsuitable for our care. Those rejected were either too old or too young, or of too low mentality to benefit sufficiently by the training which we offer in our Schools, or else were mentally diseased, epileptic, defective delinquents, or entirely unable to care for themselves. The admission of such would not only hamper the work of the Training School, but would be an injustice to the many young trainable children, for whom admission is sought, and for whose training our organization is designed.

The regular school covers work in kindergarten, primary, and grade classes, with special classes in music, drawing and color work, articulation, nature study, and sloyd. Instruction is also given in sewing, embroidery, toy and furniture making, wood carving, basket making, weaving and rug making. A group which is necessarily limited is instructed in printing. The regular school is under the supervision of a corps of fourteen teachers, who are either Normal School graduates or who have been well trained in a special department. Full details of this work will be found in the report of the principal teacher.

In the Industrial Department are to be found those children, who having reached the limit of possible mental acquirements, are being trained to do some special work for which they are best fitted, which will enable them to live a life of usefulness and happiness. Many of these find here their place in life, and postpone deterioration by continuing in work which they are able to perform without effort, and which gives them happiness in the doing. This group, under supervision, supplies the needs of this community of nearly twelve hundred people, in the following industries: Shoe making, mattress and hammock making; carpentry, painting, tailoring and baking. Besides these, the farm, garden, lawns, engine room, store room and stable, have boys well trained, each for his special department. In the laundry and in the kitchens, dining rooms, and dormitories, many children of both sexes and of all grades, find suitable and congenial employment.

It is greatly to be regretted that there is a strong desire on the part of some parents to remove their children as soon as they are well trained or even before their training is completed. They fail to recognize the fact that their children are numbered among those described by Tredgold as "persons who may be capable of earning a living under favorable circumstances, but who are incapable from mental defect existing from birth, or from an early age; (a) Of competing on equal terms with their normal fellows, or (b) Of managing themselves and their affairs with ordinary prudence." In the Institution these children are understood; they have good food, good care, easy work for which they are adapted and trained, congenial companionship and plenty of recreation. In fact, their life is not unlike dormitory life in any other school, with much the same lack of responsibility and worry. Upon leaving the institution, they suffer from their inability to hold a job, which breeds a feeling of inferiority and discouragement; and craving companionship, they frequently drift into the company of the vicious. Even in the best of homes, they are frequently made unhappy by a keen realization of their limitations.

The following extracts from letters received during the past few months, are typical: "My daughter was in your Institution for twelve years. We arranged to take her home in July, because we felt that under your supervision, she had no doubt, improved to such an extent that we might be able to take care of her, but we find it is impossible to keep her at home. She broods longingly over her life at Elwyn and speaks of her companions there. She craves friends. Since you advised that we should not take her from your Institution, we are again asking you to take her back. It was only a few months ago that you did not want her released. Please let me know when I can bring her to your Institution. This I beg of you."

Another example: "My boy received your letter yesterday. He sure was glad to hear from you and all the people out at Elwyn. He is well, but not happy, as he is grieving himself sick to go back to Elwyn, and he doesn't like it here in the city. I will appreciate your kindness for taking him back if you can. I love him dearly, and would do anything in reason to please him. Hoping to hear from you soon."

Amusements and recreation continue to hold an important place in our training. Foremost is the band, composed entirely of pupils of the School, which furnishes music for our semi-weekly dances, for our Sunday services, and for many entertainments. The moving pictures are a close second in educational and recreational value. During the past year we have had two programs weekly, one being purely for entertainment, and the other educational in its nature. For the latter purpose, pictures of industry and travel have been furnished through the kindness of the Commercial Museum of Philadelphia. We are much impressed with the value of this "visual education." The Christmas Play was "The Princess Chrysanthemum," a Japanese operetta for which the music was furnished by the "Elwyn Orchestra." The boy's play, "The Girl from "L" Triangle Ranch" was a melodrama produced and presented by a group of our boys without any aid whatever. The preparation and presentation of these furnished valuable training to about seventy boys and girls, besides giving several evenings diversion to each child in the School. In order that all the children, their parents and friends might see these plays, eight performances of each were given.

A great interest is taken in sports by our boys. We have a senior and a junior baseball team, and other teams composed of the boys of the Manse and Hillside Buildings. There have been twilight practice games during the week, and games have been played with outside teams every Saturday and Holiday during the season, before a large and appreciative audience of children and employees. The boys played basket ball and the girls played "Captain Ball" in the gymnasium, several times weekly during the winter; and the girls enjoyed roller skating for an hour every Friday evening.

Each holiday has its special celebration, usually planned and executed by the children; the Hallowe'en Masquerade; the Christmas festivities; St. Valentine's Day; the celebration of Lincoln's birthday by the Lincoln Club with appropriate speeches; Easter with its special choral service and colored eggs; Parents Day with the exhibition and sale of children's work; and suitable Independence Day ceremonies. In addition, there are automobile rides in the summer and frequent excursions to neighboring parks and beaches. Through the kindness of the Directors of the Institution, in furnishing the Reo truck for the transportation of the children, and through the generosity of the genial manager of Shellpot Park in giving free rides on the various amusement devices, many more children have had these outings than in former years. In the winter there are skating and coasting, birthday parties and theatre. The Christmas celebration is the big event of the year, as there are festivities and entertainments over a period of almost three weeks. There are twenty-nine Christmas trees throughout the buildings, from one of which, each child receives a present of his own choice. There is great competition between the different groups in the decoration of these trees, which are duly inspected by many visiting officers and children. The gayety of this joyous season is made possible by the generosity of those who so unfailingly contribute to our Christmas fund, and by the long hours of hard work put in so cheerfully by our entire staff, who leaving nothing undone which could contribute to the happiness of the children. Every employee remains on duty on Christmas Day, which is of all days, The Children's Day.

In conclusion may I express my grateful appreciation of the loyalty and co-operation of the many efficient employees, whose knowledge gained by years of experience in the work enables us so easily to preserve for the children, the sympathetic home atmosphere which is the charm of Elwyn.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM M. FIELDING

September 30. 1925.

The old wooden floors in the kitchens of the first tenant house on Pennsgrove Road and the house at the entrance to the coalyard were replaced with concrete as a matter of safety, wells having been discovered under the old floors. The walls and chimneys of several buildings were repaired and repointed, and assistance given the carpenters with the concrete work at the sludge-bed.

There were two large jobs for the plasterer; one in the Laundry, and one in the Domus. Much time was spent in minor repairs necessary to put the buildings in condition for the painters.

ENGINEER:—The engineer's force tore out the old range toilets and installed seat-action single units as follows: In Main Building, South Wing, six each on the second and third floors, and in the Girls' Cottage, six on the second floor and four on the third. This completes the contemplated changes in the work with the exception of those in the Chalet and Hillside B buildings, for which we already have purchased and received the necessary thirty-one toilets.

At the Piggery a hot-air pumping engine was set up over the well and a water-line laid to connect it to the storage tank. This was done to augment the supply from the dam in the woods.

A new hot-water boiler was installed at the Teachers' Dormitory; in the Hillside B, building, the large boiler was dismantled and sent to Chester for a new head, and six radiators that would not heat were repiped and a worn-out kitchen sink replaced. In the Manse, the kitchen sink and two radiators were replaced. The pipe radiator in the main garage was rebuilt and lengthened, one built for the engineer's garage, and a new one purchased for the pool-room.

The bake oven was cleaned out, and after inspection by a representative of the company who built the oven, the necessary repairs were made.

A check valve was put on the cold water-line, and a relief valve put on the hot water boiler supplying the Girls' Cottage and the Nursery to overcome the trouble from hot water in the cold water-line.

Two new rooms at Hillside B were wired, and the lines to the trolley and railroad stations rewired and fixtures replaced. Further electrical work was done by contract as follows: Bake Shop, Cold Storage Plant, and new pool-room rewired, a new day-line run to the Schoolhouse for a light on the stairway, minor repairs made to the lines in Music Hall and attendants' dining-room, and the location of the switch-box was changed at the dishwashing machine. An electrical company also overhauled our private telephone system, making it inter-communicating, and putting in two new stations, one in the storeroom, and the other in the engine-room.

All sprinkling outlets in the Sewage Disposal Plant were repiped to fully sprinkle the whole bed, as per instructions of the District Engineer of the Pennsylvania State Department of Health. The plan has worked out successfully, and has increased the efficiency of the plant.

The insulation on the refrigerating pipe-line was repaired, but will have to be renewed during the coming year. The ice-making compartment was cleaned out, the brine-pipe overhauled, and a new automatic ice can dump installed.

The four boilers in the Heating Plant were cleaned, minor repairs made, and two rotors and shafts for the automatic blower replaced. Inspection was made by the boiler insurance company, and upon their recommendation the blow-off pipe was renewed on No. 2 boiler.

Monthly inspections and reports on the condition of all fire equipment were made, and all extinguishers washed out and recharged. Twenty-five fire extinguishers were bought for additional protection.

FARM and GROUNDS:—The farm seems to be responding to the treatment of cover crops of rye and vetch to plow down in the spring and the addition of manure and of lime—quantity determined by test. To further build up the soil four fields were seeded during the early summer with sweet clover and vetch, which has made a very good growth. Two of the fields had a heavy growth of rye and vetch to turn down, and two had been in grass for several years. In addition to the fertilizers on hand twenty tons were purchased.

A great many dead trees and all the old fruit trees in Smith Field were cut down. The young orchard on the hill by the Piggery, set out last year, has made good growth, and it and the old orchard were pruned and sprayed. The Pennsylvania State Department of Forestry sent us 8,000 black locust trees, which were planted on the hillside above the Japanese red pine and larch planted last year. A very small number did not survive the transplanting; the balance shows a normal growth.

To provide storage for the employes' automobiles, the Lower Boiler House was cleaned out, the bricks from the walls of the old boilers cleaned and stored for future use, and a roadway built to the doorway at the east end of the building.

The fence from the farmer's cottage to the Middletown Road was removed, and new fences built the length of Ridley Field, along the Baltimore Pike and the length of the meadow along the road from the trolley station, setting the latter at the top of the bank instead of at the bottom where the old one had been. While all the roads have been maintained in fair condition, a decided improvement was made to the roadway from the railroad station to Hillside B by the application of crushed stone and Ugite. Three very short turns at road intersections were very much improved by widening. The lawns were kept neatly trimmed, a number of terraces along the tramway filled in and graded, and attempts made to grow grass in shady places.

During the winter months the tractor with saw outfit was used to saw cord wood into stove lengths and all machinery, wagons, etc., were cleaned and painted.

PIGGERY:—The improvements made at the Piggery as described elsewhere in this report add very much to the appearance of the place, will be more lasting, and will facilitate the operations of the plant. All buildings, stock, etc., are in good condition. All young pigs were treated with anti-cholera serum and virus when six weeks old, with no ill-effects. There was plenty of pasture, consisting of fields of oats, alfalfa, rye and vetch. Two fields of alfalfa, pastured early in the spring, were planted to field corn to be harvested.

We butchered weekly for our own use from December to February inclusive.

The statement for the year is as follows:

Large and small pigs on hand.....	80
Value of products sold and used.....	$5,725.41
Cost of production.....	3,111.49
Showing a gain of	$2,613.92

The important purchases were as follows: 4 steel dough troughs, 3 all metal tables and a sheet iron proofing closet for the Bakery, 2 dish trucks, a butcher's block, sanitary cup dispenser and receptacle, 2 pulley guards for the mangles in the Laundry, 1 pulley guard for the coffee grinder in the Storeroom, 11 guards for radiators in the Domus, crank shaft and drive chain for the electric water pump, hot air pump for the Piggery, one carload of crushed stone and 1650 gals. Ugite for roads, a saw outfit to use with the tractor, new tires for the heavy duty truck, 2 Band instruments, 12 basket ball and 12 base ball uniforms, 19 rugs, 72 yards carpet, 20 square yards linoleum, 15 wooden rockers and 12 straight wooden chairs, 2-five-piece living room suites, 6 rockers for the Teachers' Dormitory, 4000 feet 1" iron pipe for fences, 25 bucket fire extinguishers.

The expenses for the last two fiscal years were as follows:

Any organization which hopes to live and grow, must regularly take account of stock. It is especially necessary to examine educational principles and procedures at regular intervals in order to test their efficiency in the training of young minds and bodies.

Our Annual Report affords us a special opportunity to re-examine our principles and methods and to attempt, if possible, to make our practice coincide more nearly with our ideals. Over seventy years ago Dr. Seguin formulated for his work with the feeble-minded, the general principles of sense training and motor development on which we still base our methods of teaching. Interestingly enough these educational tenets, which put training in ability to perform useful and social acts at the very core of the system, have become increasingly and rightly the guiding principles in the education of normal children. Teachers of normal children are looking to schools for defectives, in their attempt to make educational methods conform more closely to the real needs of normal children and the society of which they will eventually be an important part. We believe that our school work is progressing along proper lines, when we define our aims as attempts to let each child develop at his own rate, and by the means best suited to his individual capabilities, into a useful and happy member of our school community.

The whole school is planned so that from kindergarten to high grade classes, each child is studied and helped to get as much as he can, both of academic and vocational training. The usual kindergarten program is rich in possibilities of training. Children acquire concepts in number, form, color, etc., which are fundamental in more advanced training. The marches and games offer opportunity for social training as well as for development in motor control.

The work above the kindergarten is divided into classes where academic and manual work are attempted in varying proportions. In the low grade class for girls, knitting, plain sewing, basket making, and other simple handwork, form a large part of the program. In a similar class, boys weave rag carpet, Colonial and Navajo rugs, braid rope door mats, net hammocks and make baskets. In both of these classes, the ability of the children to do academic work is limited to very primary attainments. The classes for middle grade boys and girls show an advance, both in type of manual work done and in the scope of the program of academic work. The girls do hand and machine sewing, and learn to cut, fit and make dresses. They enjoy selecting patterns and designing the trimming for their dresses. They also knit, darn, make raffia baskets, weave rugs on frames, re-cane chairs and make their own work boxes of wood.

Middle grade boys do simple work in wood, re-cane chairs, make baskets and weave mats. The academic work possible for boys and girls in these middle grade classes is about on a par with that done by children in a normal second or third year class.

High grade girls are able to do fine sewing, beautiful embroidery and fancy work. Many of them show aptitude for drawing and painting. The boys are apt to specialize in sloyd work, with its demand, both for drawing to scale and for executing those plans in wood. These classes make pieces of furniture, sleds, toys and other small articles which give pleasure to themselves and their friends.

These high grade classes do as much academic work as they can assimilate. The work usually parallels that of normal, fourth, fifth, or even sixth year classes.

The printing office is another feature of the manual side of the training offered by the school. The room is fitted with an electrical press, and type for various kind of work. Our Annual Report is printed and bound by this group. All the incidental printing of the Institution, including Easter and Christmas services, libretto for Christmas play, letter-heads, rosters, schedules, blanks of various kinds, etc., are done by our own printers.

Music is an important feature of the life of the Institution. The school has regularly organized choruses for male and female voices, and two creditable bands; one for beginners and one for more advanced pupils. Our choruses and bands are features without which the life of our Institution would be decidedly less joyous.

The work of the school is as far as possible connected with events and happenings in the outside world. Educational moving pictures, given every Thursday evening, afford material for both oral and written discussions. Other points of contact with the public are our Christmas sale of articles made by the children, and our June exhibition and sale to which parents and friends are invited. These sales, in addition to offering an incentive for good work, netted in money last year a return of $779.18.

The regular school year ends July 4th and summer schools begin July 5th. Summer classes are planned to give out-of-door occupation and recreation to the many children who spend the vacation months with us. The classes are held under the trees and the work is varied in order to meet the demands of the season, and of the informal class organization. The children always return to school in the Fall much benefited by such a wholesome break in school routine.

It is obvious that our problem is peculiarly a social one. These children, who should be permanently segregated from the outside world, must be helped to create a community in which each one may gradually learn to play a happy, useful part. That, in brief, is our educational problem and we feel at this annual examination of our principles and methods, that we are at least, proceeding conscientiously and intelligently in the right direction.

Respectfully submitted,

SUSANNE LIED.

Diary for the Year

1924

October 1. The first of the regular Wednesday and Saturday dances in Keystone Hall. Music by the Elwyn Boys' Band.

October 2. First showing of educational moving pictures, which will be shown every Thursday throughout the year.

October 4. The boys played basket-ball with an outside team. They will play almost every evening during the winter months.

October 10. Betty W. gave her usual birthday party to her friends today.

October 25. Mr. Harry C. Ostrander gave a lecture tonight, "A Journey on the Magic Carpet." It was beautifully illustrated by hand colored slides and moving pictures.

November 4. Kate B. gave a party to the Domus girls.

November 11. Armistice Day! A short service was held in Keystone Hall in the morning.

November 11. Rosalie F. gave a party to the girls in the Children's Cottage.

November 18. Cornelia R. gave a party to her friends.

November 20. Forty students from Swarthmore College visited the Institution today.

November 21. An excellent radio which was donated by Mr. A. Urquhart was installed on the third floor of the Hillside A. Building.

November 27. Thanksgiving Day! It was damp and cloudy all day. There was school in the morning. The girls had a walk, and the boys a game of basket-ball in the afternoon. The children had chicken, sweet potatoes, cranberries and mince pie. A dance in the evening ended the day.

December 2. The boys entertained an outside basket-ball team at lunch.

December 5. A most attractive display at the sale of the children's work today. Every department was represented; embroidery, needle-work, weaving and basketry; also the work of the printing office and sloyd room.

December 8. Betty W. celebrated her Seventy-fifth birthday with a party. Refreshments included ice-cream, cake and candy.

December 12. Georgette L. gave a birthday party to her friends.

December 13. Christmas packages are beginning to arrive. Everybody is getting ready for Christmas. The semi-weekly dances will be discontinued until after New Year's Day.

December 18. A party was given to the Nursery in memory of Emma M.

December 25. Christmas Day! A light fall of snow the night before made a white Christmas. A number of the band boys were up at dawn serenading and Christmas Carols were sung by the teachers. The small children were up very early to see what Santa had brought for them. There was a choral service in Keystone Hall at eleven o'clock, and at one o'clock the children assembled in the dining-room for a turkey dinner. At three o'clock Santa distributed presents and candy. There was a dance in the evening.

December 26. The first performance of the Christmas Play, "Princess Chrysanthemum," which was given nine times. Music by the orchestra was an added feature this year.

January 1. Clear and cold. The play was given exclusively to the parents and friends of the children, and Music Hall was crowded to its capacity.

January 2. There was a heavy fall of snow, and the children were delighted with coasting.

January 2. William J. gave a birthday party to sixteen of his friends.

January 14. The regular activities were resumed after the Christmas intermission, moving pictures, twice weekly; basket-ball and semi-weekly dances. There has been coasting every afternoon.

January 24. Emmanuel F. gave a birthday party. The children were very much interested in the eclipse of the sun.

January 26. Dr. Binzi Suyenaga of Cincinnati, Ohio, visited the Institution.

February 10. Willie G. had a birthday party today.

February 12. Lincoln Club Party! The club-room was filled with guests. There were speeches and music, followed by refreshments.

February 12. Juan F. gave a birthday party.

February 14. There was a Valentine party in the hall in the evening.

February 17. A program in Keystone Hall to celebrate Dr. Barr's birthday.

February 17. William F. celebrated his Seventeenth birthday by giving a party to the Liberty boys.

March 23. The children of Isabella O. Brown Cottage are anticipating with pleasure the treats of Easter candy and of ice cream to be provided from the Fifty Dollars, generously donated by Mrs. Waldron Brown.

March 30. The first performance of the boys' play "The Girl from "L" Triangle Ranch," which will be given six times.

April 12. Plenty of candy and colored eggs; song service in Keystone Hall; music in the evening.

April 14. Russell M. gave a birthday party to fourteen boys of his club.

April 20. Dr. Francis Maxfield of the Department of Public Instruction visited the schools this afternoon.

May 6. Walter P. gave a birthday party for twenty-four of his friends.

May 12. There was a tree planting in the afternoon with songs and speeches.

May 19. First base-ball game of the season.

May 20. Five members of the Pediatric Society of Philadelphia, visited the Institution today.

May 28. Twenty-five students from Temple University visited the schools today.

May 30. Memorial Day! The band played at Dr. Kerlin's tomb. Ten girls decorated Miss Raetzer's grave at Mount Peace cemetery.

June 6. Parents Day! It was excessively hot, and the crowd not as large as usual. There was a splendid exhibit in the Industrial building, and a band concert on the North lawn.

TO CONTRIBUTORS

The By-Laws of the PENNSYLVANIA TRAINING SCHOOL FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN provide that any person who shall pay to the Treasurer the sum of thirty dollars, shall be a Member for Life; and all persons who shall pay annually the sum of five dollars, after election by the Board of Contributors, shall be members while they continue to contribute that sum.

A contribution or legacy of five thousand dollars, if so given or bequeathed, shall constitute a Free Scholarship in the name of the donor, to be occupied upon the nomination of the donor or his legal representative.

Membership payments, legacies and other contributions unless otherwise directed, are added to the principal of the Free Fund.

The Free Fund of the Pennsylvania Training School for Feeble-Minded Children

There is no charity that should appeal more to a benevolent public than the increase and perpetuation of this Fund, for it benefits those who are literally what the French call "The children of the Good God"—friendless, helpless imbeciles.

The most heart-touching cases have been the recipients of its bounty, and yet the cry goes out from many forced to exchange for the almshouse, this, the only home they have ever known, and to which they continually seek to return.

Subscriptions and contributions may be sent to the following:

WILLIAM M. FIELDING, M. D., Chief Physician, Elwyn, Pa.
JOHN B. GEIBEL, Steward Elwyn, Pa.
MARGARET I. JOHNSTONE, Treasurer . . Elwyn, Pa.
